We, the Vicar General, being satisfied that the Election has been rightly and lawfully made by the College of Canons of the Cathedral Church of the Holy and Undivided Trinity in Bristol

Do now pronounce contumacious each and every opposer (if any there be) who would dispute the validity of the said Election, the form of the same or the identity of the person so elected, they having been given an opportunity to appear before Us and not having so appeared nor objected

And we decree that the matter should now proceed to the pronouncing of Our Definitive Sentence or Final Decree.
